Excerpted text

Stylistically two types of humans have developed in regards to trickery. The word trickery implies that some set of circumstances that produce similar results matter more in the definition of the interposition of events rather than the simplistic approach to behavior.

As an example the sentence, "The person got food and ate", Can be seen in only a rational and normal way. The sentence, "The person walked into the restaurant sat down ordered the lobster meal and left without paying. Can be seen both as trickery of the proprietor and a clever way to get food and eat.

A person has a job and gets paid. Did the person steal money from the company? A standard paycheck was offered and the employee showed to work

The high minded society offers jobs and rewards to entice a world out that has less trickery and the low minded society claims it introduces more.

A low minded person has ideals of self sufficiency and overcoming. A high minded person relies on religion, fate and blessing (of money or the good will of others)

Sermon minded folks speak of morality. Religious minded folks speak of commandments such as "Thou shalt not steal." Should a poor person steal to eat? Should society steal for the poor person? What did those old guys know about commandments? Do people have the right to life? Do people have the right to liberty? Do people have the right to pursue happiness?

The legal folks that jump here have not been reading the news. When your country spends 200 Billion on Operation Iraqi freedom using advanced weapons and your country has the highest murder rate in the world, I can assure you the right to life does not exist. As for liberty, the homeland security department does a fine job but through war we give up more of our liberty to security searches and police intimidation.

Pursuit of happiness has never had much legal basis other then slobs are 10 times more likely to get pulled over by police. Tall men get to play on the team and make higher salaries and punishing minorities with Russian sayings ask you "Who are you to have a good life?"

What basic human rights to you animals have? You have the right to follow orders and marginalize the numbing pain of waiting for that North Korean missile to fall on your head. That Hezbollah terrorist financed by Saudi Oil Money might be willing to commit a suicide attack for his loss of liberty and pursuit of happiness. Loss of rights makes terrorists 100% of the time. Mr. Hussein found a regime change will you?

The subject of worth crops up today. What value does society place on a life? What is anyone worth? An individual has objects. An individual accesses currency. What would the value of that life be over another life? The great homeland security debate goes on as to how to value each individual life.

If you are valued, or have worth, to some segment of the world population you have worth and must be treated as an exception condition which makes you worthless as an average citizen. Average citizens used to have first names and some wallet potential. Homeland security wants to know where the wallet comes from.

The present movement afoot by homeland security is to give people no worth. Housing, clothing and transportation are free to some window dressing job and these almost well bred folks have average nominal lives without being worth one penny. Whats a penny the smart ones ask? Do those meaningless pieces of paper affect how one feels. You know the paper people called money in the past (Continued)

. It's not fiction it's the dumbing down active political movement and when I am finished you say OK someone wanted you to read well for a few moments.

We the people in order form a more perfect union, dedicated in freedom conceived in liberty decree that all men shall have the right to life liberty and the pursuit of happiness followed to a point during the age of men. During the reign of M. Mouse Anaheim California the world knows we are with the guidance of Mr. Mouse. Do mice share the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness? Mickey a mouse if there ever was one enjoys mousing around the houses of those men that believed once that they and they alone had divine right to life, liberty and that happiness thing. Sometimes mice get in your hair, take your liberty and your cheese and leave with you the liberty to chase them with your cat. Women were not mentioned and of course slaves were not fully mentioned until many years after a non Mickey Mouse class orator spoke the written constitution of the Mickey Mouse government supporters. As it happens in a Mickey Mouse way the overlords and masters have run into two types of rodentia. The primary purpose of government was to further government of the governed and second to speak as if the little people could be provided for and taxed. The little people have little rules and play fairly. The encompassing under things feel they could do a better job at everything they just have not been given the chance. In an educated population many encompassing under things are paid to ride busses and insult the well dressed. They are paid to stand in front of stores and beg. They are paid to drive miles to a different community and scream, "So you think you are better then me. Whats the difference between you and me." Simply put the compare and contrast essay that follows from my community does not impress the individual. The all you do is type on a computer message is quite clear. It took a lot of work to get this sloppy ill shod body here to insult you inner peace individual. All you do is make decisions that anyone who does real work could do; you just had the skin and wallet. You would be nothing without your wallet. This guy is clumsy and his women gives it up all over town. Our girls give it up all over town, she must be one of us, yet he still thinks the world is the pristine clean world. Tactics and demeanor of the tallest individual can be met with dumb followed by the forget really what happened, followed by the breaking and entering of a life for making it known that some rich guy ate rich prime rib, looked in a mirror and stole the good will with an education he didn't deserve, that guy didn't deserve it, I did, I am better then him, take his car for a joyride, take his Sony and bring me his cash station card with PIN code. Pay through the air he says, thank you man. I win. Thank you Encompassing Under thing, same time next week

OUR Stuff Sony
Get s better every year.

These two things show all the friends young people have in the entire world.
Most people like it.

Kids today start life with the wisdom of the ages stored digitally on computer systems. The hard knocks living led to lessons about stashing yourself away with good food, water and power and let the sorry sots that go out in public learn that peace, quiet and great snacks really provide heaven on earth.

Less then 100 years ago the worker just wanted to sit down comfortably and hear the strings of the symphony with a full stomach to get to heaven. By age 21 in the modern era, everyone gets a taste of heaven on earth.

The pleasure principle tells the world what to do. Many accept some conflict in the life of their children. Most do not care to show them how bad life really was before digital won the day.

Some feel the enhanced life pushed the soul of the normal simple person beyond the place in history where they should be.

The clean happy peaceful world looks to be inside a home. To note the film of the late great Peter sellers, life is just "Being There."

The escape into the now sacked Philadelphia where Mr. Sellers needs to pass a message to the drug dealing Raul will show you the life of the persistent engineer in today's world.

The death of the middle class, as a concept troubles many who feel they live in the middle class.

Many defined the class structure in the United States as poor, middle class and wealthy. Others add upper middle class to the list.

The middle class defined involves an income to a household every year that triples the investment income. For example if you earned $50,000 at work you could have earned up to $$50,000/3 = $16,667$ to be considered living middle class. To earn that 16,667 at a decent interest rate per year you would have around $200,000 invested at a decent interest rate. (around reads brown to suburbs)

The middle class never could “live on interest” to survive. To live on interest bank interests use funds to load money and return the invested proceeds to the rich investment player. The person living on interest provides no labor input but does provide valuable capital input to the system.

In a world that presents the hard working dedicated worker overseas an opportunity to produce cars, computer memory, televisions and microwave ovens the society notices no noticeable difference in product availability.

The poor never could afford everything. The middle class struggled to work with the wealthy to obtain this new found panacea in life.

The growth rate in real terms beginning under Reagan and continuing through Bush created the best housing in the world with the finest computers and cars the country ever knew.

The purpose of life question creates an economy of solutions including drug use, alcoholism and boredom. Those that do not seek out life tend towards a disillusioned passivity that refuses to invest modestly time and effort to assist some of the social ills of the poor who fall through the large corporate and government cracks. With the elimination of the poor and middle class in the United States the impoverished nations of the world send thousands of people each day to live in the United States. Reports on missing and dead Americans appears to match the number of these impoverished immigrants. Actuarial reports in cities will tell you of the vanishing casual American style middle class family piling in the car and going into Manhattan, L.A. and Chicago. The Disney theme parks do business only the family car with the family now look like a corporate outing with young Steve taking the lead role in the Roller-Coaster demonstration team with Laura studying the magic castle Snow White for authenticity.

The wealthy middle class act much as the middle class in the past in terms of who travels on the local roads. Workers and the wealthy middle class do not mix, everyone agrees on this. Everyone in the United States that lives a middle class life now states the middle class does not need to work. The World Suspects A World War Scenario From All Authors. - 5) Alerts the world FINANCIAL CRIMES OCCUR TO LAUNDER DRUG MONEY AND PAY FOR WAR

This is cool to think about with some people. The author learned and practiced FIXING a world that agreed with the text. The decade of the 1960's wanted CHANGE from short attention span lives that KILL an enemy for profit. To do this many young minds grew older and participate in the underling world many a bright mind avoids.

The ancient premise: If a few farmers get together and farm the land well they can save the proceeds from sales and build great houses and lives with everything inside.

The ancient defeat: One heavily armed raider can kill, loot and burn down the farm village and take the proceeds home. The city premise: Many people work in a specialized way to create tools, machines and luxury goods to make life better. A man on a farm may have to pluck dry corn into a bin by hand and press the kernel into a powder the farmer can then use to make corn bread and tortillas.

In the city people create machines that take the ear of corn and manufacture the product into corn flour and corn oil.

The machines take maintenance and often need parts replacement.

The person that creates the machine seldom sees the use of the product other then initial testing. The life of the machinist and the farmer conflict in war.

The premise: An armed farmer can kill anyone in the city for her possessions and finances, with the justification the person contributes nothing to others.

Hitlerian Theory: Allow twenty years of Jewish Capitalism to create wealth. Kill 20 million in a war dividing the wealth amongst the remaining soldiers.

Jewish Theory: Allow long term investing and growth to provide a stable economy based on supply and demand.

Hitlerian theory KILLS

PEOPLE dead merely for being with wealth. To define holocaust as merely killing Jews fails to impress the modern world citizen the Rabbinit must define to the congregation what it means and meant.

If a man can not get wealth and the society says you may take the wealth if the man makes a gun for the army and takes it one day with 10 bullets the same man now has the wealth of the 10.

Hitler went with some police called the Gestapo Secret Police to see if any real work for Germany occurred in Jewish homes. The conclusion, called the final solution meant he could not find a Jew that would invest in German causes, including his own.

The Jews drank wine and no beer. The fact of which would imply a non interest in the wealth in Germany supporting brewers. In fact the farmer, brewer beer hall country hideout lifestyle won in Germany so cold the surprised Berliners never had a chance with the shouting style the country people developed to speak German. Simple tactics of wealthy Germans luring Jews out with compassion only to meet the country bumpkin looking to grow cold to someone who told him he could not get barrel and grain money along with a small warehouse his friends built and the Jew now owns led to the holocaust.

Jewish Theory presupposes the love of the same types of things of all peoples in the society. In a world of choice the Jew gets wealthy with diverse financial plays.

In a world where motorcycles get frowned upon the Jew buys the machines and riding trails out and sentences bikers to the back woods. The financials never seem to work out for manufacturers in Jewish countries. The assumption a man would want to count paper and gold while sitting on a soft pillowed chair confuse the "classless" peoples of the world. The very nature that both theories success leads to the judging of each life incorporates the theory that they both feel they speak with God. Ancient peoples at least could laugh at this because ultimate ends of things mattered less then the potential deaths due to illness and accident. The Americans and Russians both won in the second great European conflict and must rise again to punish the Jews and Germans for playing God with the world.

The Reasons For Books

The guy who says he writes thinks of himself as writing the books posted on the Internet at Mostosoft.com. Linking to the BLOG off the home place Dave's Place Cartoon links to the downloading free of the books.

Gosh were my girls who check on my computer programming life mad. They got through a tough undergrad program while in high school and never wanted anything else up there in that head.

First, they made kids against our wishes and live without male coverage. Second, they want to compete for smart with each other. Third, the world uses ideas about new things.

The television and video tell a complete story for certain. The object of a book gets carried along. The respect for the book takes part when parts get into the young mind.

Most people can be critical of television and film people now. The book actor called She might be you. The book character called He might be you. The good or bad in the book makes sense in that as some educators use the presumed negative on something, you too may use this. This moral of Do you want to wind up like the dodo bird in the story morals make sense.

The names fade from books that show current events in relation to thinking. The secrets revealed about what actually goes on concerning computers and face spying on bad guys showed up on television years ago.

I can assure you that with sense those security people work better. If you take the authors points verbatim then the work fails to put your part out as interesting. Authors exaggerate importance to make sure you don't miss the point of things. The book's fictional approach tells a story of a world the author found himself opposing and feeling unwelcome in.

The fact that the thinking at times shows brilliance left a few close academic friends wondering why people don't jump in and turn the pages.

If you make a couple of copies of The Prurient Patriot, by WD Mostovoy and Chem Lab-Node Warrior by WD Mostovoy, you can carry them around with your book friend and at least care new thinking goes on in spite of what I hear is called Verbatim failure, whereby each passage must extract to an absolute truth about humanity.

Let it be known some smart story tellers live unreliable witness lives

Cleaning Up America It happens

Yesterday, I found out what happens in the neighborhoods here.

Fifteen doctors select a coffee urn in a city neighborhood showing up everyday to speak with the owner. They hand him $10.00 a day five days a week just to speak with him. At the end of the week each doctor looks to be out $50.00 and the owner appears to be up $750.00. The payout of gifting and speaking with the highly educated won the hearts of the breakfast type places in the city.

They took to making suggestions and upgrading the menu to include photos of the food at a particular coffee shop near by.

On the second week a lap top shows up with a password to the televisions in the neighborhood to judge whether the folks live cleanly enough. The city stop lights have some camera on a light pole they can follow cars in to see if it is safe.

Occasionally they must break in to steal things to chase bad people out of a neighborhood that do not live cleanly enough.

The value of one house chased out covers the doctors modest visit into the city zone they wish to white wash. The beauty of the fifteen doctor set is they act, write and talk like the federal government scaring the bejeezus out of decent citizens. Most people like it.

Many grow clever after the first two sets of fifteen show up and set up as a war base due to their new found popularity. The realization that money and killing look free set up an enterprise of following every car every where in each city in the world.

Most people like it. Many people die and suffer indignation. People use to protest about sexual harassment, rape, child molestation and breaking and entering. Without a doubt society encourages the stripping of each and every person on national television after the acquisition of a bottle of aspirin. The theory that they wish every clean Jew up there ass works for Arabs and Chinese who feel you live just to clean for your mental capacity.

The world protests each neighbor seeing them without pants on. Strip search your own mind next time.
