During war for things the Beverage Master has come on line. Don't let the Oreo tag fool you, This also works great for "Nilla Wafers"

Stopping terrorism takes some doing. Once you know you look like a blip that falls down and another head pops up, just eat chips, ice cream and relax. Someone tell Lisa. I mean Neighbors sings well but if you think this guy believes her June cleaver act and that I am some Rickey Rat she is dead wrong.

The homeland security department works for all of us.

If you do not see yourself in the list you get to see a whole lot of number 1 Rickey Rat.

The agency uses people of course to get things done. This code might confuse the unaware

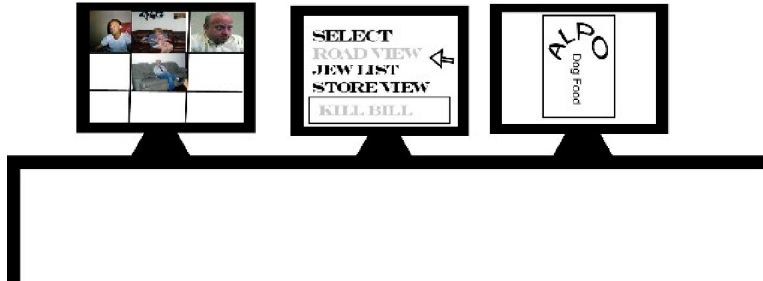

- 1) Rickey Rat – The creep from somewhere that crawled out from under a rock
- 2) Barney Fife-The lazy cop
- 3) Gomer Pile-The friendly soldier
- 4) June Cleaver-The suburban housewife
- 5) Ward Cleaver-The suburban houseman with a job
- 6) Beaver Cleaver-The curious kids
- 7) Jim Neighbors-The doctor and or doctors’ friend that just cares too much about your real life to be an OK neighbor. He is not being nice, he is stealing your life. That nice thing conflicts to some folks way of thinking it is just he never caught on to some.
- 8) Bruce Smith-A businessman U.S. federalist and FBI associate.

Rickey Ricardo the famed star of the Lucille ball show was to be the Rat (Raton) only people loved him for handling her so well he became a hit. Rickey Martin also became a hit and no one really knows why Mr. Rat is named Rickey.

On an average day Mostosoft sees over 100 in each category snooping for fun and profit. That is correct sir 700 people want to be paid off or your head gets killed,... Literally

Bill

Your neighbor sits with this screen every day. He believes your cells matter none to the world. If you people believe political aims matter at all you do not know the network. The security of the Army after the COUP of 2001 left most people slurping up the chance to kill others. Look out, out their.

A Random Blog Chat with Beaver Programskia-San

What did you just think on the file search?

Dislike everything the command from God is.

It is your own picture donkey.

You were neither asked to love or hate your work.

Why does the machine part of you want “like” and “dislike” to do your function?

I wanted to “Get High” the voice responded.

“What stopped you?”

“This man named intelligent said so.”

What does this operator have to do to get you to not care about this machine?

So Lisa and “Cindy” cooked up the Mythical “Paul Masten” game for you to achieve points for destroying your life and the actual user of the Masten Machine.

Let me grade your use of Mr. Masten.

Paul added no content to the site.

He had 3 months to duplicate the thirty second animation and failed

He could not write the Tongue Converter software

He could not take the first step to updating LangConvMaster

He could not duplicate the audio for the Documentary on Public Radio

He could not do ONE illustration.

What did Mr. Masten do. He spent $3000/wk to lie to the boss

He paid so much for information that the end provider of information had to make something up so drastic for the amount paid a decent section of the city lays in ruins. Both the Northern Style Bar and Jazz Club now have been abandoned and no new owners appear to be stepping in.

As an attendee of my city portion I have two less places to be.

I have almost been run over on Briar 18 times by left turning information seekers. As I waited after one near miss 30 minutes no car turned during that time.

My convenient food man and used to take 30 seconds over a purchase, now we feel monitored by the public as to what a man may purchase. He has installed a 40 pound monitor over the customers head and lives well with oppression.

The Hags Mirror

Each person lives with a reflection in the glass. I lied about saying I love you Laura at the beginning and got severely beaten. Anyway the fact someone would read a truth that they ran over a squirrel might not sit well with them. After all the driving would one squirrel incident deter the pure and noble view the world puts upon them.

Each day the mirror tells the story of the day. Each day the hag hears how wonderful she looks for spending her fortune on threads of gold with coaches laden with leather. The appointments reflect well on you Mrs. Goldenthread for certain.

Mrs. Goldenthread fancied herself a brilliant mind equipped to handle everything, and she means everything the modern world could show her. She spoke well with the man that handled floral arrangements. She spoke well with the man who would take the command to feed her to the expert chef. She even had a kind word for the man who tended her rose bushes.

On occasion Mrs. Goldenthread held tea for some society women in her home. The reasons for things occur to a Mrs. Goldenthread so naturally the well kept women of Goldenville respect the lives that keep the Goldenthread way alive. The treachery and deceit that those ill-mannered people use assault those that know the well kept person dresses well, eats well and keeps a tidy mind.

One man met Mrs. Goldenthread on her journey through life and met the treacherous and deceitful people with such force of will Mrs. Goldenthread needed to try deceit of her own to find the truth on the nature of forceful.

What Mrs. Goldenthread found shocked everyone. The mayor, the politician the respected band leader and even the school teacher had the hand in the lock box kept.

Well Mrs. Goldenthread opined all of those people must no best and turned away from the story that left far to many in the pond behind the graveyard uncounted and rotting.

The well manicured cemeteries never bothered Mrs. Goldenthread they served as ordered reminders of times past and held. The world she traveled in held visions like castles in the air. The effluvium of florid scented roses waft far higher than the fertilizer the gardener had applied.

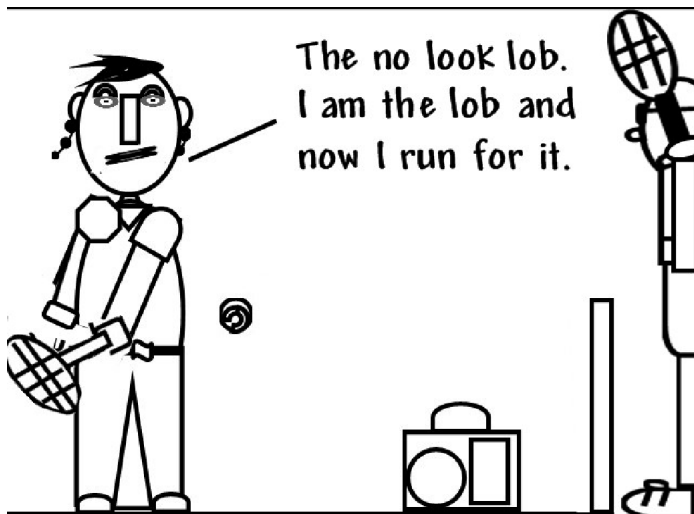

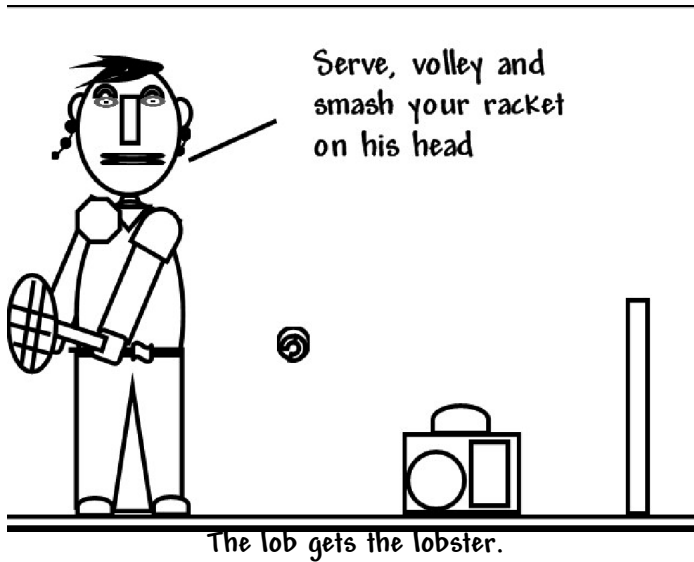

“So, the man wrote shock and awe a few times and now” she said to herself, “Do I get to use my tea service just the same.” I like my image in the mirror. When the esteem of others fall the dedication to pure and just turn into the pure horses tail and justification for cold, icy stares.

No one lives a life of hypocrisy without first owning a life of belief. The book Van Gogh’s Ear sat on the lathed brown table by the stand alone chair with that name on it from her past. He went and exposed all the dirty little secrets until the whole of it looks like the scent of the perfume mattered very little to hold it together.

He assumes people enjoy being held up to the mirror of truth. Van Gogh very well may have sent me his ear. It does not mean I can hear him”, she mused

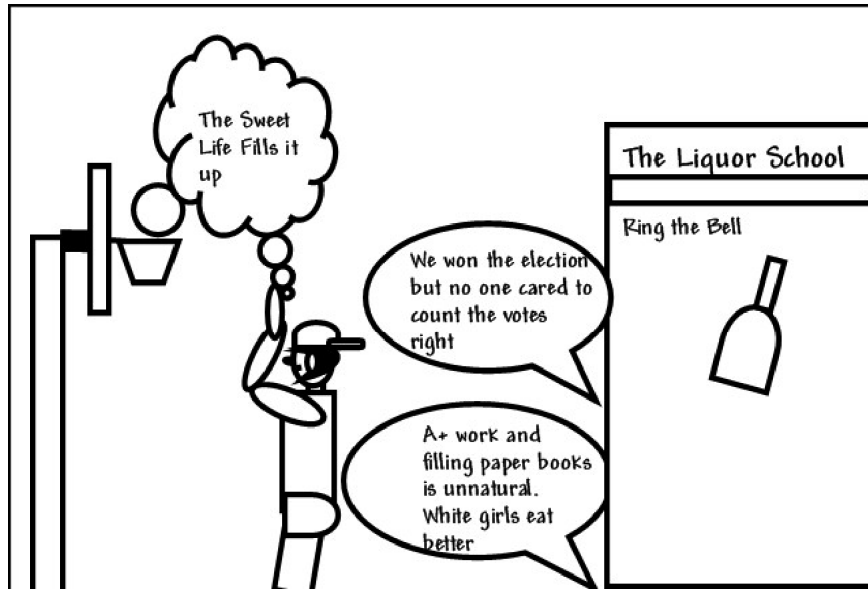

The Jokes

Factoid: Indiana combines 2 dummies to equate to a smart. They still cannot make fudge surprisingly.

Final Four chips in the shooter Sunday filled the imagination of the lookers.

You had to believe I would wreck your box...being from Seattle and all.

Sysop:It's funny as each person wrecks the box as you say the social ordering guy sends 100,000 US Army personnel to eat , drink and shop Seattle in uniform and respect. After 6 months of investigation the young people learned the army can be your friend in regulations.

They killed many enemy from German and Japan. They acted correctly and followed procedure the entire way. If you side Germany and Japan, the troops will kill you dead with weapons.

Sysop: To accept yourself as a failure works in clubs that say that they to failed. Seattle is a dream to me. The monitor took people that put themselves close to death and gave them virtual life. Most just sat at the Multi-Sync and felt better. A few real thinkers do most of the work.

As it happens the thinkers and I work together in decision making. My push to the edge involved the other extreme that I would be caught doing nothing mentally and they caught doing something along those lines. We disagree on cool because they always say they could have done something because they have time on the monitor...but are so well watched they can not try.

Sysop: EOT

Over a cup of Starbucks great Ideas come cheap

Who wrecked the perfect world created in the Starbucks coffee cup. You see as it happens what should happen, should happen the multitudes agree. Those that lived in a rate the product, and give importance of an object in what they acquire feel slighted by current coffee cup wisdom. Everyone needs a car. Everyone needs a computer. Everyone needs a TV. Everyone needs a phone. Everyone needs the Starbucks master brew system to be known...Obviously.

The conditional logic person solved everything with (not said hard) the automatic option on goods sold. If you acquire the best product costing the most then, you will be happy. This strategy bankrupted thousands of Japanese young people and forced decent college students into early debt.

You see even if you live in Japan where they make TV's they require you to pay real yen for this. The pride factor works to impress the world. The aggression from the Toyota and Mercedes maker to have young people get new stuff right away fails to impress the clever price performance computer shopper player.

The slick coder negotiated with less memory and slower processors much more ably because they had choices in life and could accept trade offs for the next best thing ever on the road to advanced "Cadillacing" of the computer world. To Cadillac something implies you put every electronic feature in one car that does everything except allow you to park on the street easily and fill up with gas economically.

The perfect world in a coffee cup works for the ultra rich every time and the worker developer lost to doctors and insurance claims processors who got the perfect life while stepping on the worker who wanted to dedicate an entire life to fine, successful cars and computers.

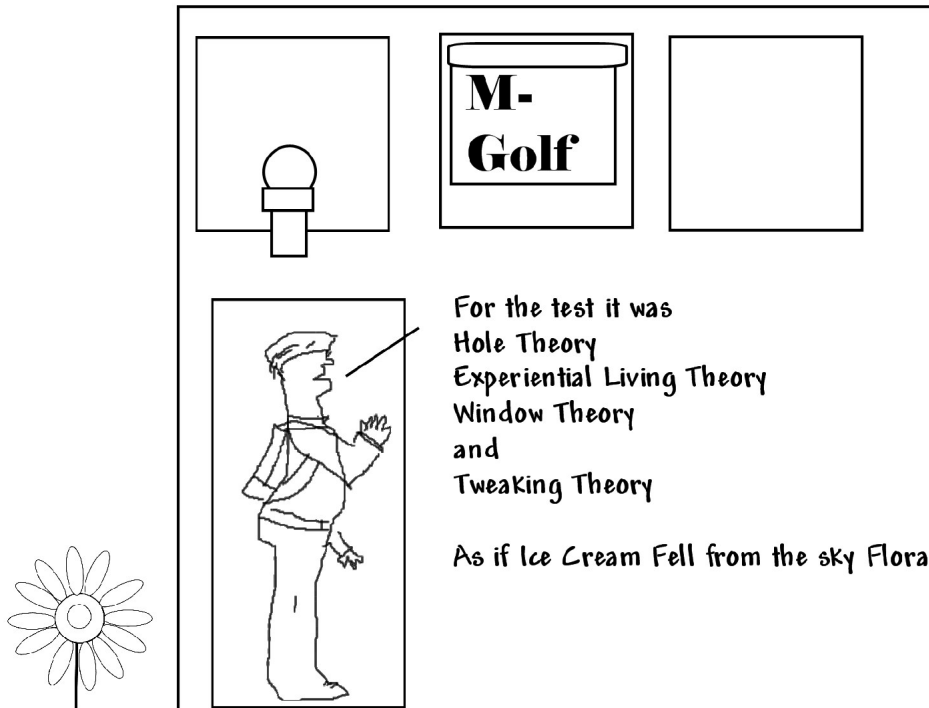

Doctors know things fail. Doctors know machines and structures can be built to exceed the human life. Why do engineers build perfect worlds for doctors and not themselves?

The perfect world in my coffee cup requires each doctor to pay an engineer 1 million dollars never to get the engineer in their sights of death with medical x-rays.

With 80 percent of engineers being diagnosed as bi-polar we now know the housewives, househusband looks at the man who sets the computer down nicely in the hospital as one who could destroy it. The housewife always complained about stuff missing and that woman around and the man should fire her. The staff tolerated her for the life but knew she held some missing screws together with diamonds and cash.

The man who sets the system down on your desk lives so faithfully that, that part of your world should work just so perfectly to assist you that living with the unthinkable that you would kill your machine before yourself led to the drugging and diagnosing of the finest minds the computer and car world ever knew. 8 out of 10 programmers loved God and People more then any Doctor that lives to give you disease and pronounce your death. The concerned scientists and engineers demand an explanation from the AMA as soon as you get off your bank statement wisdom.

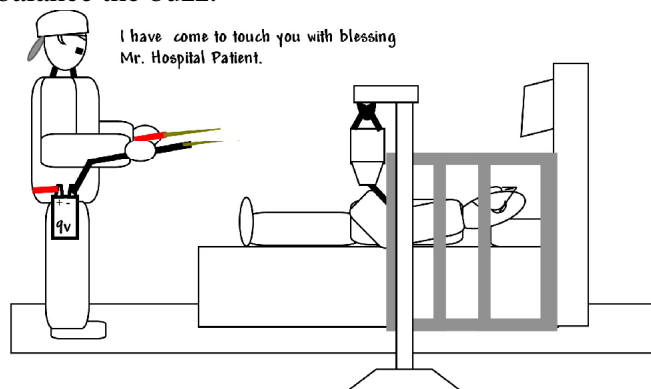

To be Hole Theory you use the inputs and output holes to your body to your hearts content.

To be Experiential Living you try things like thinking books, computers, concerts and events

To be Window Theory amuse yourself at objects moving in front of you as if it mattered to them.

To be Tweaking Theory balance the buzz of drugs in your system to an extreme way. To some food and coffee qualify as drugs to balance the buzz.

Here we go...

My name is Bill Mostovoy and I live without the use of cocaine. At the age of 21, on my 21st birthday a pusher gave me a "free packet" of cocaine. It was used by the inimitable Gregor and myself. The film will show use of the drug. I did what I call and evaluation. I said to no one in particular, "I can see why people do this." Not with excitement but as a scientist the view of cocaine use looks like something to an artistic and judicial eye. It also takes a lot of money and the pusher had the campus nailed down and would not have permitted dealing so using it on my college funds was out of the question.

I graduated college and with a few looks at the pusher and user community I just forgot people continued on with the lifestyle. Cocaine is big business. Cocaine makes people do things that people that do not do cocaine feel is immoral. Having been bitten once and trying it the morality issue and call is out of the question on actual use of the drug. The insensitive and cold treatment to Engineers, Workers, Doctors and Business People who choose to care correctly troubles me at this age. So the pusher went technical and I can't help but flow out some Pseudo-Code for the callous disregard the man seems to have laid out for the future.

The cast of a Television show has dominated the advertisers for command and control of the American ass. Reports filtered in today of 30 dead furniture salesmen. They contributed stories sometimes on holidays but they were not dysfunctional enough to become soldiers of false. The young children dropped drugs and blunt instruments on there heads for the $6,000 bank account and an iPod. The waves of stars should suffice as a job well done. The glimpse of a star meant you saw a star. The glimpse turned to greed as poverty stricken eyes believed the dollars, yen, francs and all the other currencies of the world could replace the friendly wave and the gift of performance. Performing the function of capital exchange produced an economy of supply and demand. Simple yes and perfect as it was command economies waited with baited breath as the perfection of a system was established. The transformation of the planet in terms of the very basic needs Who cares, you built it we stole it by killing the soul of the creators and builders now we fight to decide weather we should kill the great killers and takers and continue the game of growing cold to all for the next great steal. So inevitably the question of which system won continues. Capitalism in its true form succeeded and produced communism which failed and produced social democracy. Social democracy grew week and feudalism was born. Introspective delivery to here in truism forestalling the inevitable we hear. What did the King say? What did the Vassals steal? Who did the mice kill? In time the serfs and mice will fight for survival as serfs and mice always have. With modern methods extermination of foolish leaders will be over quick as they come. The cacaphony of unrest in sound and vision dominates the ever-present repeat we play on the security system of the long dead wealthy who sat at home and offered chairs and beverages every now and again. Did you really miss them? Got any Coke? Many people wanted to know the meaning of life back when the universe meant something. OK, yea it still means something. But to get to the meaning of life you must have the tools to find out how the meaning of life can be accepted with your own world view. The meaning of life may have a time component, it may have a place component and it may have a emotional component, and it may have a language component. The best people may not be the people who know the meaning of life but the people who know that they must have the tools to know the meaning of life. The wealthy middle class act much as the middle class in the past in terms of who travels on the local roads. Workers and the wealthy middle class do not mix, everyone agrees on this. Everyone in the United States that lives a middle class life now states the middle class does not need to work. The World Suspects A World War Scenario From All Authors. This Author Claims no responsibilities for ANY AND ALL PERSONAL ASSAULTS. The writing

- 1) Alerts the world of TERRORISM
- 2) Alerts the world of PERSONAL SAFTY ISSUES
- 3) Alerts the world THE OFFICIAL U.S. Military IS IN ACTION
- 4) Alerts the world HOMELAND SECURITY TAKES PART ON OUR BORDERS AND PORTS
- 5) Alerts the world FINANCIAL CRIMES OCCUR TO LAUNDER DRUG MONEY AND PAY FOR WAR

This is cool to think about with some people. The author learned and practiced FIXING a world that agreed with the text. The decade of the 1960's wanted CHANGE from short attention span lives that KILL an enemy for profit. To do this many young minds grew older and participate in the underling world many a bright mind avoids.

The ancient premise: If a few farmers get together and farm the land well they can save the proceeds from sales and build great houses and lives with everything inside.

The ancient defeat: One heavily armed raider can kill, loot and burn down the farm village and take the proceeds home. The city premise: Many people work in a specialized way to create tools, machines and luxury goods to make life better. A man on a farm may have to pluck dry corn into a bin by hand and press the kernel into a powder the farmer can then use to make corn bread and tortillas.

In the city people create machines that take the ear of corn and manufacture the product into corn flour and corn oil.

The machines take maintenance and often need parts replacement.

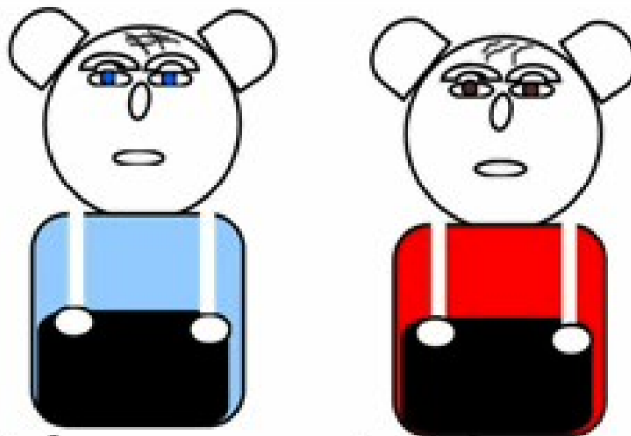

The person that creates the machine seldom sees the use of the product other then initial testing. The life of the machinist and the farmer conflict in war.

The premise: An armed farmer can kill anyone in the city for her possessions and finances, with the justification the person contributes nothing to others.

Hitlerian Theory: Allow twenty years of Jewish Capitalism to create wealth. Kill 20 million in a war dividing the wealth amongst the remaining soldiers.

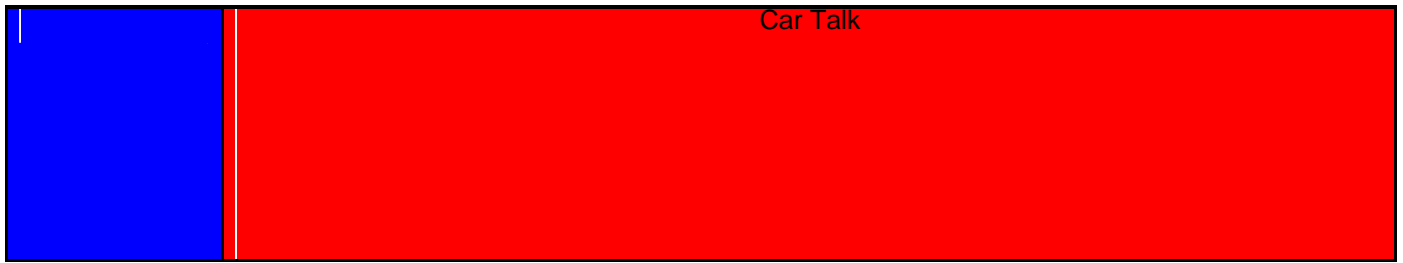

Jewish Theory: Allow long term investing and growth to provide a stable economy based on supply and demand.

The Reasons For Books

The guy who says he writes thinks of himself as writing the books posted on the Internet at Mostosoft.com. Linking to the BLOG off the home place Dave's Place Cartoon links to the downloading free of the books.

Gosh were my girls who check on my computer programming life mad. They got through a tough undergrad program while in high school and never wanted anything else up there in that head.

First, they made kids against our wishes and live without male coverage. Second, they want to compete for smart with each other. Third, the world uses ideas about new things.

The television and video tell a complete story for certain. The object of a book gets carried along. The respect for the book takes part when parts get into the young mind.

Most people can be critical of television and film people now. The book actor called She might be you. The book character called He might be you. The good or bad in the book makes sense in that as some educators use the presumed negative on something, you too may use this. This moral of Do you want to wind up like the dodo bird in the story morals make sense.

The names fade from books that show current events in relation to thinking. The secrets revealed about what actually goes on concerning computers and face spying on bad guys showed up on television years ago.

I can assure you that with sense those security people work better. If you take the authors points verbatim then the work fails to put your part out as interesting. Authors exaggerate importance to make sure you don't miss the point of things. The book's fictional approach tells a story of a world the author found himself opposing and feeling unwelcome in.

The fact that the thinking at times shows brilliance left a few close academic friends wondering why people don't jump in and turn the pages.

If you make a couple of copies of The Prurient Patriot, by WD Mostovoy and Chem Lab-Node Warrior by WD Mostovoy, you can carry them around with your book friend and at least care new thinking goes on in spite of what I hear is called Verbatim failure, whereby each passage must extract to an absolute truth about humanity.
